

Episode 89: Not All Indexes Are Created Equal

The SpaceX IPO captured investors' attention, but many were surprised to learn that a company's size doesn't automatically translate to a large stock market index weight. In this Revamping Retirement episode, Northern Trust's Austin Guy sits down with CAPTRUST's Jennifer Doss and Pete Ruffel to discuss the rules behind index inclusion, the role of float-adjusted market capitalization, and why mega-sized IPOs can have a smaller impact on indexes than investors expect.
