The insights gleaned offer a chance to understand what peers are doing and how top-performing organizations are breaking the mold regarding board member pipeline development, asset allocation, alternative investments, and more. Listen as we explore:

- Current trends in impact investing
- How the investment strategies of grantmaking organizations differ from operating nonprofits
- And, with 96 percent of organizations evaluating diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) criteria when selecting new board members, whether these and other DEI actions are moving the needle
