

Episode 73: Jessica Dickler on Navigating Financial Influencers

In this episode, Jessica Dickler, a personal finance writer for CNBC, joins hosts Matthew Patrick and Audrey Wheat to tackle social media's impact on financial education. How have platforms like TikTok, Instagram, and LinkedIn become go-to sources for financial advice, especially for Gen Z and millennials? Is this a perilous path, or a great new way for new generations to learn financial wellness?

Tune in to discover how social media is reshaping the landscape of personal finance.

Get more insights for retirement plan sponsors by subscribing to Revamping Retirement.